At this time the decoy will agitate the dog and run into a wooded area at which time he shall hide and remain motionless. The decoy will have no concealed or exposed apprehension equipment on. After ten seconds, the handler will release the dog without verbal command or stimulation and remain stationary. The dog will be judge on the following: Alert behavior when first viewing decoy. Speed on pursuit from starting point to area in which decoy disappeared. Hunt for decoy ... circle and bark. The decoy shall not return fight with-dog. For a period of 30 seconds with the handler out of sight the dog shall be evaluated on the above behavior. Ideal behavior is strong alert behavior upon seeing the decoy. Active interest in the pursuit of the decoy, fast speed to point to where decoy entered the wooded area, strong use of olfactory senses when in wooded area. Sustained engagement with decoy by both circle and bark. No concern as to the handler whereabouts or the handler approaching when told to do so by evaluator.
- II. Test Two: Handler shall hold muzzled dog and without any verbal stimulation or command release the dog after a decoy who is not wearing any agitation equipment is approximately 75 yards away. The decoy shall continue to jog away from the dog after the initial engagement. Ideal behavior is a high center back blow by the dog with sustained high hits until removed from the fight after the evaluators' instruction.
- III. Test Three: The handler and dog shall be in the same position as Test Two and the decoy shall run directly away from the dog. The dog is released when the decoy is approximately 75 yards away without verbal stimulation or command. The decoy will then turn and run directly towards the dog throwing an object across the path of the oncoming dog. The dog should totally disregard the object thrown and continue the pursuit. Ideal behavior for this test is a high hit in the upper chest with ears forward and eyes open. Sustain high hits on the body until removed by the handler

- IV. Test Four. The handler and dog shall walk on leash and with the dog remaining in the muzzle past an area to which the dog cannot view the decoy. As the handler and dog are walking away a third party will fire two rounds of ammunition. The dog should not show avoidance or aggression towards the gunfire. The team will continue walking away at which time the decoy will jump out and attack the handler. The dog should show no avoidance and immediately engage the decoy with high-sustained muzzle hits.
- V. Test Five. The dog is cabled with an agitation collar and choke chain. The decoy will make a proper presentation of an exposed sleeve to enable the dog to engage. One, the evaluation is conducted on the dogs' physical bite to include stick hits and hostile yelling the decoy slips the sleeve. The decoy then attempts to refocus the dogs' attention on him versus the exposed sleeve. Ideal behavior is for the dog focus on the decoy, engages the sleeve with a full grip that does not adjust during the yelling or stick hits. Once the sleeve is dropped the dog releases the sleeve and focuses on the decoy that is without equipment at this time.
- VI. Test Six: Stable Character Test- the Canine will be brought around several people to judge how it responds. It should not be afraid to act aggressively toward anyone who approaches it. A happy, social attitude should be seen in its behavior. The canine will be walked on smooth tile floors to see if it's sure footed. The canine should display no fear or discomfort. While the canine is standing in a passive state, an umbrella will be opened suddenly in its face. The canine may show a slight startled reaction, but should recover quickly. The canine will be tested for gun sureness, with several unusually loud gunshots. The canine will be taken into tight places to see how it responds. The canine should confidently enter and investigate these areas without any signs of hesitation or handler dependency.
- VII. Test Seven: Retrieve & Prey Drive test- the canine will be evaluated to see if it will pursue not only objects it is familiar with, but also strange, hard and soft objects. This test will be conducted in a ravine or a hill. The canine handler and evaluator will stand downhill and the handler will throw each object up-hill and out of sight. With each object the canine will be held on a line and released with no command. One by one, several objects familiar and strange will be thrown up-hill for the canine to pursue. The canine will be judge on its alertness, speed, hunt and grab of each object. The purpose is to determine if the canine will hunt for and play with strange objects while being physically stressed.
